Mental Health Employment Programs

The Coalition of Behavioral Health Agencies is the umbrella organization for more than 100 non-profit agencies in New York City's behavioral health community. These agencies serve over 350,000 clients. The Center for Rehabilitation and Recovery is a division of the Coalition. The mission of the Center is to increase service access and quality so that more people can move further along in their recovery. One of the Center's major goals is to disseminate up-to-date information. It is in this context that the Center publishes The WORKbook, which offers comprehensive information on the mental health employment programs and services available in New York City. The intended audience is mental health consumers, family members and providers. The WORKbook is published online and is continuously updated.

To access The WORKbook go to:

http://www.coalitionny.org/the_center/workbook/

All of the programs included in the WORKbook have been updated to make searching for programs easier online. The update allows individuals to search for programs through different parameters such as program models, job types and services. Additionally, you can search for programs alphabetically or by borough. The WORKbook is a great resource to help people attain their career goals.
